NINTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

BOARD OF MANAGERS.

The Board of Managers present to the citizens of Camden and vicinity the following report of their proceedings during the past year, and their own views respecting the exertions necessary for the future prosperity of the Home.

The number of inmates at the date of the last annual report was twenty-three; since that time forty others have been received; three have been indentured; four have been placed in families but are not yet indentured; one has been sent to the State Reform School at Trenton; seventeen have been returned to their families, and two have become of age. The number now under our care is thirty-eight.

There has been some sickness, but nothing more serious than the ordinary ailments incident to childhood. The Board would again acknowledge their obligations to Dr. H. Genet Taylor and Samuel H. Grey, Esq., for professional services rendered gratuitously.

The house formerly rented and occupied by us on Federal Street, being in bad repair, small and inconvenient, the Trustees decided, after mature deliberation, to erect a building suited to their wants. This measure was adopted in accordance not only with their judgment, but upon the advice of many friends of the Institution whose opinions are entitled to much consideration. An acre of ground, within easy access, was generously donated for this purpose two years ago, by Mrs. Eliza C. Collings, of Germantown. The Corner Stone of the new building was laid May 13th, 1873, and on the 9th of December last the Managers took possession.

The building, although not fully finished, is, in all its general arrangements, well adapted to the purposes for which it was designed, and, we hope, will be an enduring monument to the liberality of our people and an ornament to our city.

Taking it for granted that our friends will continue to give as liberally as they have heretofore, we enter upon the coming year with brighter hopes for the future. Yet, in order to give permanence to this Institution, and to increase its usefulness, extraordinary exertions will be required of the Managers and Trustees, and further liberal contributions from this community. Many articles of furniture are needed which cannot be procured without money, nor can the existing establishment be maintained without considerable expense.

At the suggestion of such an undertaking, with an empty treasury, the Managers could not but hesitate; but the spirit of benevolence which characterizes the present age, and the success that has attended almost every well directed charitable effort would convict them of a want of trust in a Christian community, and reliance on that Almighty Being in whose hands are the hearts and treasures of all men, should they seriously regard its accomplishment as impracticable.

To you, then, Christian friends in this vicinity, the Managers of the Home do not hesitate to recommend it as having a pre-eminent claim upon your charity. Its existence and prosperity depend upon your support. By you it is to be determined whether it shall languish and die, or live and strengthen, and, by the influence which is brought to bear upon the minds of the youth under its care, be the means of raising many from degradation and want to lives of industry, sobriety and usefulness.

By Order of the Board of Managers,

MRS. WILLIAM CURTISS,

Corresponding Secretary.

Camden, May 12th, 1874.

REPORT OF THE BUILDING COMMITTEE.

To the Board of Trustees of the Camden Home for Friendless Children:

The Committee appointed in the early part of the year 1873, to take charge of the erection of the New Building, report:—

That they contracted with William Severns, a builder residing in the City of Camden, for the erection of a Home on the lot on the Haddonfield turnpike, a short distance beyond the crossing of the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, for the price of $17,735, in accordance with plans and specifications gratuitously furnished us by S. D. Button, Architect. The price named was the lowest of seven estimates furnished by competing builders. The new house is four stories in height, including the portion within the mansard roof. It is 46 feet in front by 60 feet in depth, and is divided into twenty different compartments, besides the halls running through the centre of each story, and the bath rooms on the second and third floors. The exterior walls are of Trenton brown stone as high as the top of the first story, and above that of handsome pressed brick. The roof is of tin and slate, the interior finish is neat and substantial, with numerous and convenient closets, ventilating and heating flues, water pipes and hydrants in kitchen, bath, laundry, &c. In addition to the main building above mentioned, there is a one-storied brick building in the rear 34 feet by 19 in size, used as a play room for the children in cold and wet weather. An iron tank in the attic containing 2000 gallons receives the rain water from the roof, and affords the supply to the baths, boiler, &c.

The gas pipes and fixtures, kitchen range, and heating apparatus were not included in the contract and have been added since by arrangement with other parties.

The building was fit for occupancy by the 9th day of the twelfth month, 1873, when the children and family were removed from the former premises on Federal street to the new Home, and since that date some finishing touches have been added to complete the whole in a substantial manner, excepting the iron stairway outside, which is embraced in the plan as an entrance to the second story in front, and grading the grounds. The contractor has performed his duties to the satisfaction of the Committee, and has been paid in full, and a release of all liens been furnished by him from the sub-contractors and material men.

It being necessary to construct a fence on three sides of the lot to enclose it, your Committee in accordance with the authority given them by the Board, have had it done ; and also have erected a frame shed to shelter the horses and carriages of visitors when standing at the Home ; all at a cost of $432 60.

The extra work and materials furnished above the contract price of the building have cost as follows, viz :—

Extra plumbing and gas fitting,	$126 70
Extra closets and sink,	44 00
2 wells for waste water and soil,	50 00
Gas pipe,	58 26
Furnace and Registers,	480 70
Kitchen range,	93 00
Perpetual insurance for $10,000,	405 00
Drawing contract and other papers,	27 60
Lumber materials and sundries,	79 40
Total extras,	1,797 26
Contract price less deductions for iron stairs and flues,	17,210 00
Total cost of new improvements,	$19,007 26

It will be seen from our Treasurer's report that the cost of these improvements has been all settled ; but in order to accomplish this the Trustees have been under the necessity of borrowing $4,000 on mortgage of the property from the estate of the late Dr. Isaac S. Mulford, deceased. This debt should not be allowed to remain as a permanent one, but early efforts should be made to liquidate it, and thus leave our new Home clear of all incumbrance.

On behalf of the Committee,

CHAS. RHOADS.
Chairman.
